TAG: Roy Anderson Corp Named “Best Place To Work”

Construction firm Roy Anderson Corp was recently named the “Best Place To Work” in Mississippi in the Large Company category (200-499 employees) by the Mississippi Business Journal. They were selected as the first place winner from a field of nine other finalists. The honor was announced at a ceremony held in conjunction with the Mississippi Business and Technology Expo in Jackson, MS.

The awards program is designed to identify employers who create climates conducive to job satisfaction while also significantly benefiting the state’s economy. Confidential employee interviews are conducted to determine the winners.

“It’s gratifying to know the members of our team enjoy and appreciate the environment of the place they work”, said Roy Anderson, III, President and CEO. “Our associates have always been our best asset, and we take great pride in their acknowledgement in this award.”

Roy Anderson Corp will be profiled in a special March publication of the Mississippi Business Journal.

Roy Anderson Corp was founded in 1955 by Roy Anderson, Jr. Now led by Roy Anderson, III, the construction firm is recognized as one of the largest building contractors in the United States. Roy Anderson Corp also holds the prestigious Exemplary Voluntary Efforts (EVE) Award from the U.S. Dept. of Labor for innovative programs, which further equal employment opportunities for their employees.
